Cunning is Elected for Freshmen Head; Parker Leads Sophs

All the college classes met separately this morning, the freshmen and sophomores for organization and the junior and senior, which organized last week, to transact business.

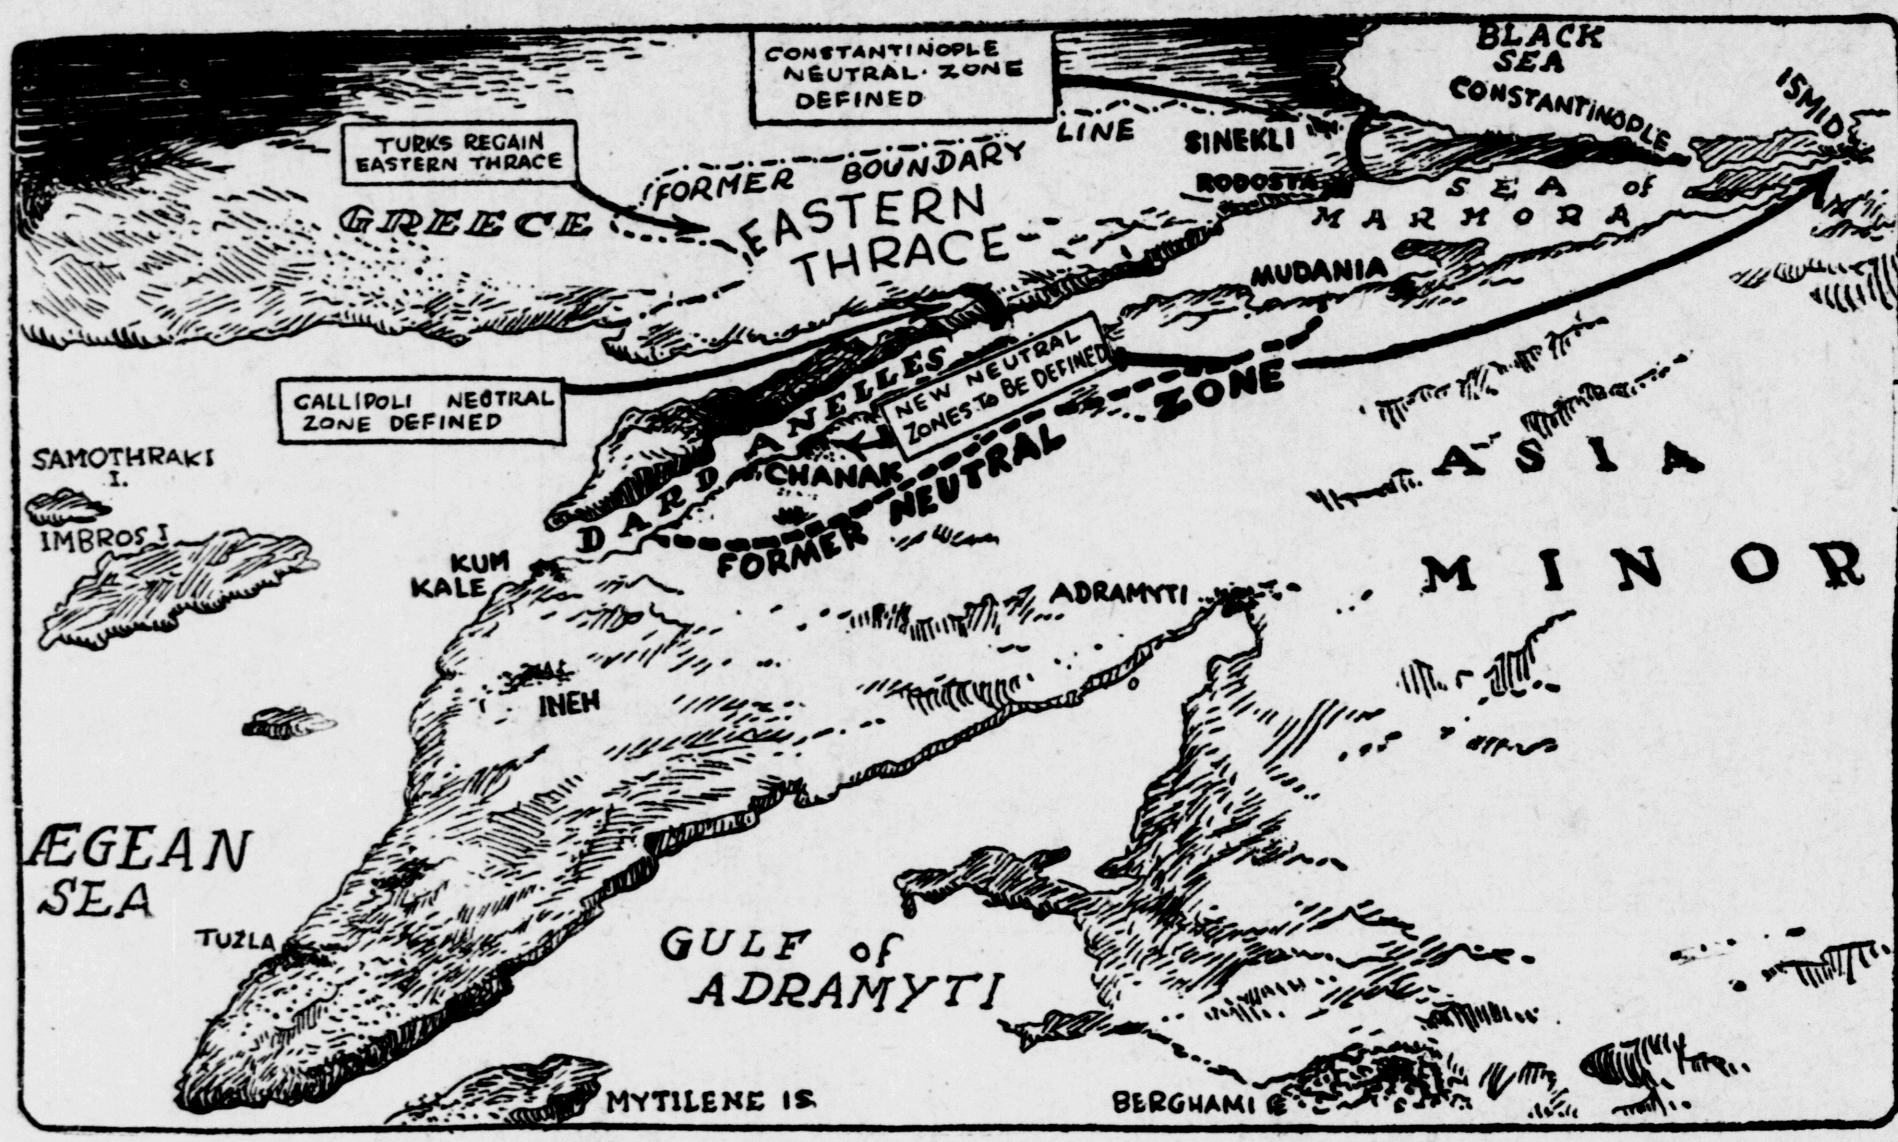

The freshmen class, composed of about 175 students, chose Charles Cunningham as president. Other officers of the class are: Jeanette Bobbitt, vice-president; Alice Gowing, secretary; Lyle West, reporter; and Ben Weaver and Annie Laura Hill, yell leaders. Mr. Nelson will serve as advisor for the freshmen.

Clifton Parker was elected president of the sophomore class, with Thelma Roberts as vice-president, LaVerne Cottingham as secretary and treasurer, Sue Washington as reporter, and Guy Meaders as sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Robinson was chosen as advisor. The sophomore class numbers about 75 students.

The junior class accepted the resignation of Marvin Cassidy as president. He will not be here for the whole year. Gilman Mackin was chosen as his successor.

The Matterhorn was first scaled in 1865, three of the climbers losing their lives in the attempt.

TERRITORIAL EFFECTS OF TURK TREATY

Under the terms of the Mudania armistice eastern Thrace will be turned over to the Turks within thirty days. This territory was taken away from the Turks in the territorial settlements made after the war and has been sought by the Turks ever since. The allies, however, will pass upon the Turkish soldiery allowed in the area. New neutral zones in the Chanak and Ishmid areas, of strategic value along the Dardanelles and Bosphorus, will be defined by commissions. The boundary of the neutral zone in the Constantinople peninsula has been set, as has that of the Gallipoli peninsula. The map indicates the approximate line of both zones. Other terms of the treaty relate to evacuation of eastern Thrace.

REPORTER TELLS OF EXPERIENCES IN HANGAR FIRE

Newspaper Man Describes Scene When Balloon C-2 Explodes.

MANY WERE INJURED

Scramble to Escape From Hissing Gas Results in Near Tragedy.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17.—Lying on a cot at the Jackson Memorial hospital, swathed in bandages with a broken arm and possibility of internal injuries, Ben Baines, Light reporter, who was a passenger, told of the accident to the C-2.

True to his newspaper instincts, he had telephoned the Light from Brooks Field immediately after the accident in which he had been thrown to the concrete floor and in addition to broken bones, had been shocked and stunned. After notifying his paper he was taken to the hospital by a woman who had driven to the field to see the ascent.

"We were being towed out of the hangar for the flight," he said. "Major Strauss was standing in front and the rest of us were seated in the car."

"As the nose of the ship came outside of the hangar its nose was caught and swayed a little with the wind. As the ship was brought farther out, it careened to one side. Some of us rose in our seats. However, as the ship was a little more than half way out, the wind caught it full force and carried it over the west side of the entrance to the hangar. It then swayed back. People under us were running to get clear of the ship."

Decided to Jump

"As the wind let the big bag go it dropped to the car and scraped the floor. Then a puff of wind caught us and seeing the car swinging menacingly towards the west door, I decided to jump. I don't know if any of the others jumped or not, but I think they did."

"I lighted on my feet, but the force of the fall was too great and I fell to the floor. I turned and saw the bag rent and heard the hissing of gas. Others were caught and those on the floor made a wild scramble for safety."

"In the midst of this excitement there must have been another rent in the bag for the force of the gas threw me to the floor. I rose to run, but had not taken three steps when I was again hurled to the floor. Then came the explosion. I

Money Rained to Earth

$20,000 in Bills Blows from Mail Pouch When Automatic Device Cuts Sacks on Train; Eager Crowd Seeks Harvest.

(By the Associated Press)

AUBURN, Ill., Oct. 17.—Fifteen hundred dollars in five dollar bills lies ground to bits along the right-of-way of the Chicago and Alton railroad here today or has been secreted by Auburn residents, according to officers of the road, after checking up on the $20,000 which fell from a mail pouch from a passing mail train last night and was scattered over the road bed. Five men who alighted from a passing freight to gather in some of the green backs are in jail, while postal officials are on their way here to investigate.

The mail pouch was ripped open by an automatic device while the C. and A. mail train, bound from St. Louis to Chicago, was going sixty miles an hour. The bag was torn open and a rain of five dollar bills fluttered through the air.

One package of currency was ground to pieces beneath the wheels. Men with buckets and women with open aprons went along the right of way picking up the money. All but $1,500 had been reached this morning.

GOMPERS GIVES LEGION MEETING PLANS OF LABOR

Federation Head Cheered When He Enters Hall at New Orleans.

LANDIS WELCOMED

Buddies Table Debate on Light Wines and Also Masked Orders.

(By the Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17.—The American Legion in national convention here today heard Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, tell of labor's aims and aspirations and what its rights and dues are.

Mr. Gompers and Keneas Mountain Landis, supreme commissioner of baseball, received a noisy welcome from the "buddies" when they entered the convention hall.

The session was slow in getting under way, after a night of street play last night, with out-door dancing on the streets and sidewalks under the palm trees of Jackson Square, New Orleans' historical "Palace d'Armes," scene of the assembling of Old Hickory's army of frontiersmen and gulf pirates to make war on the British veterans of Napoleonic wars in 1815.

Saddest of all persons connected with the convention was the individual who had bought the tobacco concession at the convention hall, only to find at the last minute that smoking was barred by the convention committee and state fire marshal on account of the fire hazard.

The all important resolution committee will bring in a number of expected resolutions and is preparing to table a number of other topics. Among these, it is learned, are the beer and light wine issue and reference to the Ku Klux Klan. Friends of beer and light wines insist vigorously that an open fight will be made before the convention to get an expression on this issue. Persistent rumors are that the Ku Klux Klan also may be an issue in open session.

Notice to Public

The cottage now upon the site to be used in the construction of the new memorial-convention hall will be sold at auction Saturday morning, October 21, at 10 o'clock.

Masquerades were created in the sixteenth century by an Italian, it is said.

Houdini Says Spirits Can't Talk with Us

Noted Magician Laughs at Theory That Dead Can Communicate.

(By the Associated Press)

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—Morbidness and melancholia induced by interest in psychic phenomena threaten the health and sanity of many persons in the opinion of Harry Houdini, president of the Society of American Magicians, expressed at the annual dinner of the society here. He spoke of his 25 years' investigation of the subject, and said he had never seen anything to convince him that there had been a single communication from the dead.

"I have never seen any of the mediums or spiritualists do any thing or produce a single effect which I could not, through my knowledge of magic, account for or duplicate," he asserted. "I have had nine pacts with the dead, who while alive agreed with me to try to communicate with me from beyond, but each has been fruitless."

He said he had worked with Sir Oliver Lodge and other scientists engaged in the study of psychic phenomena and respected them.

"But," he added, "when I demonstrate to them the secrets and reveal the methods used by mediums and they tell me that I too am a medium, in spite of myself, I am forced to conclude that they merely do not know."

"I have seen people who previous to the war, never concerned themselves with things psychic now delving into it to the point of hysteria. It is conducive of morbidness, brooding and melancholia. It becomes an obsession very quickly and I would warn against it. It is threatening the health and sanity of those who indulge in it."

TURKS TO FIND THRACE VACANT WITHIN 45 DAYS

Adrianople, Oct. 17.—Thirty thousand Greeks and Armenians have passed from this city to western states since Saturday, and the road between the Maritza river is an unbroken line of men, women and children with ox carts, cattle and camels.

Through a steady down pour of rain they are plodding toward their unknown destination, driven forward by the nameless fear which has gripped the whole population of Eastern Thrace since the government bulletins were posted on Saturday announcing the terms of the Mudania armistice which provided for occupation of the province by the Turks within 45 days.

The members of the allied missionary station here declare the extent of the refugee exodus indicates that the Turks upon their entry will find eastern Thrace almost uninhabited.

County Prepares to Prosecute Murderer of Church Official

(By the Associated Press)

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her eccentric brother, Willie Stevens, were brought to the court house by Detective Fred David, shortly after 11 o'clock today for further examination by authorities investigating the murder of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Rhinehart Mills.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 17.—Having obtained possession of the projected handing over of the inquiry into the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Rhinehart Mills, from state authorities, county officials were prepared this morning for a busy day's work.

They were to question during the day Henry Stevens, brother of Mrs. Frances Hall, widow of the slain rector, and a maid in the Hall home. Persons close to the prosecutors of both Somerset and Middlesex counties, who have been in charge of the investigation predicted that a man and woman would be arrested on charges of first degree murder before the day closes.

QUICK CHANGE IN COURSE OF WIND BLAMED BY MEN

Commander is Listed in Injured as a Result of Catastrophe.

HELPER'S LEG BROKEN

Giant Bag is Swept From Hands of 50 Men Who are Guiding it.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17.—The Texas "norther" which came down from the north this morning was the primary cause of the destruction of the giant dirigible C-2 and the serious injury of several of its crew when a sudden gust of wind struck the hangar at Brooks field, resulting in the explosion which led to the wreck.

The injured were: Major P. A. Strauss, commander, light bruises.

Sergeant Albrecht, engineer, broken leg.

Major M. D. Thompson, eighth corps area headquarters, broken arm.

Captain N. Walker, aide to Gen. Charles L. Hines, broken to face.

Don Hains, corporal, broken arm. Sergeant Harry Bile, who sustained a broken leg giving aid to those in the car.

At the time of the accident the dirigible was being manned about the giant hangar built for the ill-fated Roma. Realizing that a cross-current of wind, caused by the "norther," made it hazardous to the safety of the C-2, Major P. A. Strauss, commander, had just ordered the dirigible back into the hangar. At that time half of it was clear of the big doors. At this juncture, the wind swept the bag to one side and a small portion of canvas to which one gird rope was attached tore out. A second rope guide snapped and, a third pulled loose. More than 50 men were holding the bag and directing it. Some of them were lifted from their feet and carried some distance into the air as a gust of wind carried the big bag up and to one side, where it struck against the concrete goor frame. At this juncture the rushing air struck the bag and in the twinkling of an eye the explosion occurred.

CEMENT WORKER FALLS DEAD AT PLANT TUESDAY

William R. Wilson, 35, a laborer at the cement plant, died suddenly about 8:15 Tuesday morning while at his work. Heart trouble is believed to have caused his collapse.

Funeral services had not been arranged early this afternoon.

Wilson, who lived in the 700 block on West Thirteenth street, leaves besides a wife and two children, a brother and sister, both of this vicinity. His father-in-law is manager of the quarry at Lawrence, it is understood.

Tulsa Workers Show Interest in School During Spare Hours

(By the Associated Press)

TULSA, Oct. 17. Special part-time day schools for working boys and girls, established here this fall under the supervision of public school officials, have attracted more than one hundred students. It has been announced. The majority of the pupils are employed in department stores, laundries and other enterprises.

The part time schools are not connected with the city night schools which have been a regular feature of the public school system for some time. It was explained. They were designed for boys and girls whose employers allow them a few spare hours during the day for study of reading, writing, arithmetic and other elementary studies closely allied to the "three R's."

A large oil company has established a similar school not connected with the public schools. Errand and office boys, elevator girls, and other young employees are students. The school was first established for boys but girls were admitted at their special request.

LET'S HELP.

The News is anxious to see the Southern Ice and Utilities company install creamery equipment and begin to turn out creamery butter. Naturally, before this move can be made, the company wants to know if there are enough cows in the territory to keep the machinery turning. It would be poor business to spend thousands of dollars getting ready to make butter, and then not be able to get the cream to keep the machinery running.

There are few things, as we see it, which would do more to encourage better farming, and by better farming we mean farming with more profit, than a good market for all the dairy products this county can produce. While dairying is hard work, it pays well if managed properly.

We urge every one upon whom Mr. Givens calls for information to take sometime if necessary to supply that information. It is a thing in which we are all interested.

When Thomas A. Edison began his experiments in harnessing electricity, he entered what was practically a new field. Electricity was more of a curiosity than of practical utility outside of the telegraph. Edison revolutionized the subject and made this mysterious force one of the most useful servants of mankind. A few days ago he celebrated the 40th anniversary of the incandescent electric light, which is today used in millions of homes. This is just one of hundreds of his inventions. A great industry has been created as a result of this one invention while others have had their place in the progress of the world. Besides making the subject of electricity a recognized science Edison has worked in other fields with wonderful effect as is evidenced by the phonograph and moving pictures.

We often think of a Chinaman as a dull, thoughtless individual who deals in opium and other sleep producing drugs. We picture him with a long shirt with the tail uncaptured and a hunk of hair down his back. But there are Chinese who are different. There are some who think and think right. Where in all English literature do we have a bright thing said better than the following, translated from the Chinese?

Man makes a great fuss
About this planet
Which is only a ball-bearing
In the hub of the universe.
It reminds me
Of the staff of a humorous weekly
Sitting in grave conference
On a two-line joke.

Press dispatches state that William H. Murray has sold his real estate holdings around Tishomingo. From this it is inferred that he is planning to cut loose entirely from Oklahoma and apply himself to his South American colony. Few of the political leaders at the advent of statehood are now in the public eye, one after another having dropped out and another group formed. In this day of high pressure living it is not an easy matter for any man to remain long before the public. People are looking for something new and new political issues and new men are eagerly taken up while the old ones are discarded.

The Oklahoma City News carries a story to the effect that after being hopelessly whipped at Buena Vista, Santa Anna, the Mexican dictator, saw a vision of the Virgin who promised to avenge the wrongs of Mexico. In recent years the boll weevil appeared from Mexico and has done billions of dollars damage and caused untold suffering. The Oklahoma City News is inclined to believe that if Mexico had any grievances against the United States that needed to be avenged, the weevil has done the job well.

The News is in receipt of a copy of Senator Smoot's speech in favor of a tariff on sugar. Utah produces large quantities of beet sugar, hence it was not hard for the senator to see how the safety of the nation depended on levying a tax on poor and rich alike to boost the price of sugar. Smoot saw nothing but ruin awaiting unless this tax were levied, but now that it is on the statute books and the sugar growers are receiving their bonus at the hands of the people all tax payers should rejoice that they have the opportunity to pay a higher price for sugar since it goes to such a worthy cause.

Gov. Lee Cruce will be here tomorrow to address the voters in the interest of the Democratic ticket. It has been a number of years since the former governor visited Ada, but he will find many friends here when he arrives tomorrow. He has taken little part in the politics since his retirement from office, having been engrossed in private business, but he is now in the field in response to the call of the party and is giving a good account of himself. If the Republicans make any headway between now and November they will have to go some.

"STRANGER THAN FICTION"

The Forum of the Press

"They Have Their Reward."
(Holdenville Democrat)

There is nothing surprising in the statement of Senator Caraway that in his recent tour of Europe he found America the most unpopular of all nations. It is generally known nowadays that the people of the old world have little affection for the inhabitants of the new. In fact, recrimination seems to be the order of the day. Nations have sent their affections on a temporary vacation, and no people are overfond of any other people. The world seems to have an aggravated grudge and will have to recover its poise before any nation can be very popular with its neighbors.

Moreover, America has given Europe a special reason for looking askance at this republic. When our government negotiated a separate peace with Germany it forfeited its right to the good opinion of the world. The nations of Europe see today the dark clouds of the Russian menace lowering along the frontiers of Muscovy and daily fear the bursting of the Bolshevik bomb. Europe dreads the red menace of Moscow, and Europe knows that the blackest chapter in international history was written by the fallen Muscovite, when after the most vehement protestations of fidelity, he ruthlessly sacrificed the honor of his homeland by signing a separate peace with the Hun.

More inexcusable than the sin of Lenin was the sin of America, for she had heard for years the storm of execration hurled at the betrayers of civilization. She had shared in the universal detestation of the cabal of Moscow and had enjoyed abundant time to plumb the depths of Bolshevik infamy. She fully understood the moral that attaches to any nation that she serves the truth to the hour. Moreover, she had shared in the disaster, born of Russian poeasay, for thousands of her sons had died in battle to save the situation created by the treachery of Lenin. But in spite of knowledge and world wide warning, America made the Russian her chosen exemplar of national faith and honor and sold her wares in the same unclean market patronized by the rabble of Moscow.

When all nations are unpopular, America, too, must be unpopular. But she must bear the added burden that is always born by any nation that forfeits willingly the respect of mankind.

Germany Aided by Turk's Victory.
(Lawton Constitution)

Revision of the allies peace terms so as to allow the Turks to occupy eastern Thrace is an encouragement to the German to continue their policy of obstruction against the allies.

The Turkish nationalists have won a phenomenal victory by playing the allies against one another. Germany is following the same method. After Mustapha Kemal's success, there can no longer be any doubt among the Germans but that their government has followed the right path to obstruction since the ending of the war. France has succeeded in splitting the allies in the Near East and now exerts paramount influence over the Turks. But France's same policy in the case of Germany, will not make France the controlling force in Berlin. This difference represents the grave factor in the situation.

The allied split over Turkey has increased the prestige of Paris diplomacy. But, an allied split over Germany might lead to the actual downfall of the French republic. Turkey progresses by using favorites among the powers. Germany however will make entirely different use of allied discord and will be encouraged to plot for a war of revenge.

France cannot continue to hold a dominant position at Constantinople except by a policy of continued acquiescence in Turkish demands. France wants Turkish friendship because of its influence on her twenty million Moslem subjects in the North African colonies, and also for the purpose of using her Constantinople prestige as a club over the western Christian power to work actively for Turkey, except through diplomatic means. When confronted by a show of force, as the British proved at Chanak, France must back down.

The Germans, however, perfectly realize they can come back to their pre-war position only if some time in the future they are prepared to fight.

In any future war waged for the rehabilitation of German nation, the principal enemy must be France. France's new influence at Constantinople will thus force the Germans to do all in their power to swing the Turks against the French. By offering an alliance to Turkey, the Germans can promise the sultan that in the event of victory all of France's newly acquired Syrian territory will be returned to the Turks. By that means, the German statesman will have an admirable opportunity of striking France a double blow and regaining their ascendancy over the Ottomans.

All possibility of Germany playing fair with the allies over the reparations question can not be considered at an end. Henceforth, the German government will redouble its efforts to keep the allies at loggerheads over reparations. France's independent action in Turkey, will in itself favor the German scheme, because there can no longer be any expectation that Great Britain will work in full unity with the French.

The entire European balance has been shifted by the Turkish comeback, clique, pride and sentiment.

Energy contained in a pound of dynamite, if it could be released gradually, would propel an automobile more than 100 miles.

Broken Arrow Holds Picnic in Honor of Twentieth Birthday

(By the Associated Press)

BROKEN ARROW, Oct. 17. — With the passing of a single score of years this town has come into being, metamorphosed from a single shack centrally located in a broad expanse of rolling prairie to a group of electrically lighted stores and homes connected with Tulsa by a concrete highway.

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of Broken Arrow was celebrated yesterday. A historical pageant covering the short span of two decades here included all the features for which generations are required in most cities.

Leading the pageant was a group of Indians. Cowboys riding pinto ponies followed. A string of decorated motor cars marked the transition from hard-riding, hard-shooting days to the pneumatic days.

Twenty years ago a few courageous settlers, widely scattered, were the only tillers of the soil in what is now a thickly populated, right agricultural district.

INDIAN WOUNDED SECOND TIME IN FIGHT WITH FOE

(By the Associated Press)

JAY, Okla., Oct. 17. — Sam Boney, Creek Indian who has long been prominent in affairs of Delaware county, is seriously wounded at a hospital here and George Guess, a Cherokee, is held in jail as the result of the second of two alleged shooting affrays between the two men.

Boney was the victim in both instances. The first difficulty attributed to them occurred nearly ten years ago when Guess was alleged to have wounded Boney in the shoulder. Persons who knew both men say they have not been friendly since that time.

After the second affray Guess surrendered to the sheriff, saying he had shot Boney with a shot gun when the latter appeared at Guess' home late at night. Guess was quoted by the authorities as saying that Boney accused him of testifying in court against one of Boney's friends and that when Boney apparently reached for a knife Guess fired at him.

Boney was found in the woods some distance from Guess' home by a searching party of friends. Boney has admitted, according to County Attorney W. W. Milled, that he was drunk when he appeared at Guess' home. Boney was especially active in the county seat fight here in 1912 when he aroused his people to oppose the Creekmore as the location for county offices.

All are invited to attend the McSwain theatre Wednesday and hear Harold Lloyd say, "I Do!" And Mildred Davis, not to be outdone also says, "I do!" After that they were married and went to live in a nine room house and had Magnolia cook for them, because Mildred couldn't bake a cherry pie.

And they were very happy until Mildred's brother, one of those in-laws of the "Do-me-a-favor" variety, ased Harold and Mildred to take care of his two young hopefuls—the Disturbance and the Annoyance.

Isn't it marvelous the commotion two small beings can create? If you doubt it, visit the McSwain theatre. "I Do!" is Harold Lloyd's latest Associated Exhibitors comedy and is two reels of hearty laughter.

"SLIDE" NAMED FOR BETTY COMPSON IN "OVER THE BORDER"

Can you negotiate the "Betty Compson slide?"

No, it isn't a new dance offered as a substitute for the present syn-copated steps. It's just the name of a new skiing course at Truckee, Cal., discovered and dedicated to the dainty Paramount star by Casson Ferguson and J. Farrell MacDonald, who were members of the Penrhyn Stanlows company on location at the popular winter-and-summer resort. It is nearly a mile long, and is said to furnish one of the most thrilling rides to be found in that neighborhood.

The picture for which the trip was made, "Over the Border," features Miss Compson and Tom Moore, with an excellent supporting cast. It was written by Sir Gilbert Parker. It will open at the McSwain theatre Wednesday. The supporting cast is strong and the situations are highly dramatic.

Klansmen Walk Out as Speaker Denounces Them

OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 17.—While Thomas Lee Woolwine, democratic candidate for governor, of California, was denouncing the Ku Klux Klan at a public meeting here last night, a man arose and walked to the platform, set a small statue of a robed and hooded klansman down at the speaker's feet. Taking the act as a signal, a crowd of men estimated at 150, walked from the hall in an orderly manner. There was some hissing, meanwhile, after which the candidate continued his speech.

COWMEN BUILD UP FINE TRADE

Brothers at Temple Show Whole State Method of Real Progress.

(By the Associated Press)

TEMPLE, Okla., Oct. 17.—There are two of them, brothers—Bob and Otho Mooney. Fifteen years ago Bob was punching cattle at $15 a month and Otho was clerking in a hardware store at $3.50 a week. Together they borrowed $1,300 and established a little general store. The store was opened here because the Mooney boys lived here, and felt that home was as good a place to try their luck as any.

That was back in 1906. Today Bob and Otho Mooney are president and secretary respectively of the B. and O. Cash Store, incorporated, which did a retail business, according to their statement, of $1,250,000 in 1921.

Home proved a good field for the Mooney boys, although the atlas reveals that the B. and O. Cash Store has grown out of all proportion to its immediate surroundings. Temple numbers as its entire citizenship but 906 persons. The map indicates its location with only the usual small town dot by the side of the Chicago, Rock Island Pacific railway in Cotton county, not far from the Texas border.

In Prominent Place The B. and O. Store occupies the most prominent place in the single business block on the small town. It is housed in a two story brick building covering nearly one-fourth of the business area. It is a department store in every sense of the word, having ten distinct departments each under a different division. These departments are groceries, hardware, furniture, lumber and building material, men's furnishings, shoes, women's ready to wear, piece goods, confections, and tobacco and produce. The latter department is devoted both to buying and selling chickens, eggs and cream, and, according to Bob Mooney is one of the largest of the ten.

Asked for an explanation as to how a business of more than a million dollars annually has been built up in a town of less than 1,000 persons, Mr. Mooney explained that it was largely through mail orders and the result of honest service to customers, advertising, buying from merchants near home and cooperation of the forty-five persons employed by the store.

Advertise Direct "We advertise at all times direct to our customers, using farm journals, newspapers and hotel publications," said Mr. Mooney. "We try to illustrate the merchandise we are selling just exactly as it should be. We keep the kind of merchandise our trade demands, have it displayed so they can see what we have, have it marked in plain figures and sell to each and everyone at the same price."

Mr. Mooney said that he attributed the growth of the store to the fact that a man or woman has been placed in charge of each department with full control over it. Buying from jobbers near at home was declared by Mr. Mooney to have aided materially in that it enabled the store to carry a better assortment stock on less capital. He explained that a quicker turnover can be made than if the goods were delayed by being shipped from a greater distance.

"We always hand out a smile with every package," Mr. Mooney said. "We have found that in merchandising successfully every man must be on the job from the man who hauls the goods from the freight depot to the executive in the office. Moments and hours count in making money. Quick service means quicker turnover and a quick turnover is the main key to success in merchandising."

Mr. Mooney declared that the store through its extensive advertising has built up a regular mail order trade from a radius of 150 miles and that goods are shipped daily in lesser quantities to every state in the union. He declared that only two stores in the state are larger than the B. and O., which is equipped throughout with modern fixtures found in department stores of the larger cities.

CROSS COUNTRY MEET ARRANGED FOR DECEMBER

Sometime in the second week in December the first annual district cross country run will be held under the auspices of East Central college athletic department, it was announced today. The exact date for the run has not yet been set. Applications for entries in the race are to be made at once to Coach M. Z. Thompson, head of the East Central Teachers college athletic department.

Prizes will be given to winners. The race will be divided into two sections, individual runners and teams. This is one of the latest proposals in a sporting line for this section of the state and East Central College is believed to be the first to start annual cross country runs. Teams will start from the Oakman school house, follow the Ada-Francis road in its old course down to Mississippi Avenue and then down Main to Broadway. The wind-up will be at the Ada Fire Station where preparations will be made to care for the runners on their arrival.

Any high school, industrial plant, college or individual in this section is eligible to enter, and no consideration. In cases of teams, five men will be entered. As many teams as wish may enter the meet. Those promoting the affair stated that since the meet was to include high schools, colleges and individuals, it would necessarily have to be a handicap affair.

The team having the least number of points will win. Each man finishing in a position will add as many points to his team list as is the number of the place he makes. For instance, a man coming out fifth would add five points. A silver loving cup will be awarded to the winning team and a large pennant to the second winner. Individual winning first place will receive a gold medal. For further information communicate with Harry Scheinberg at the Model or Coach Thompson at the college.

Wet and Dry Forces Face Each Other in Battle Upon Ruling

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Wet and dry forces faced each other today before Federal Judge Learned Hand in the first pitched battle between federal prohibition enforcement authorities and foreign and American steamship lines over the validity of Attorney General Daugherty's liquor ruling.

Dockets of Judge Hand's court were cleared for the hearing of the temporary restraining orders today, restraining the enforcement authorities from putting into effect the ruling forbidding American and foreign ships which leave port after October 21 from carrying liquor under seal into or out of American ports.

Four Plead Guilty to Liquor Charges Before County Bar

Four pleas of guilty stimulated activity in county court as it opened Monday its regular October criminal term before Judge Tal Crawford. Will Harris, John Mayban, Tom Farris, and Nannie Hampton pleaded guilty to liquor charges. Harris, Mayban and Farris were fined $50 and given 30 days each in the county jail. Sentence on Nannie Hampton, charged with transporting, was postponed pending the outcome of a case against her in federal court.

The case against Dan Rogers, charged with selling liquor, was thrown out of court because of defective information.

Bill Watson, charged in six complaints with violating liquor laws, went on trial Tuesday for alleged transporting.

REBATES ARE ORDERED UPON TAXES OF 1920

Rebates of state ad valorem taxes paid under the 1920 levy were ordered Monday in letters mailed by Frank Carter, state auditor, to county treasurers. Taxpayers who paid under protest, the mill levy for the fiscal year beginning June 30, 1920, will be the only ones to benefit by the rebates. Carter said the next legislature would probably appropriate funds with which to rebate those who paid the tax that year but failed to say that they did so under protest. The state supreme court recently held that the 1920 levy was unconstitutional.

21 ALLEGED REDS TO BE ARRESTED

Michigan Prisoners are Charged With Holding Communist Meet.

Twenty-one alleged Communists were arrested as a result of a raid on a meeting held in a rooming house in the city of Detroit, Mich. The prisoners are W. Z. Foster, leader of the 1919 strike at the Ford Motor Co., Charles Ruthenberg, executive secretary of the Detroit Party, and a number of other persons. The Detroit Party is a legal branch of the Communist Party and has denied the charges. The Detroit Party has denied the charges. The Detroit Party has denied the charges.

Sheriff Swoops Down
When Sheriff Bridgman, his deputies and federal agents swooped down on the meeting in the early hours of August 22 all of the paraphernalia of the alleged national Communist convention had disappeared, but a country boy who saw some men burying several barrels in the woods led the raiders to the spot and four typewriters, a duplicating machine, a half dozen leather brief cases, between seventy and eighty portfolios of papers, piles of printed matter and stationery and other alleged Communist property were recovered.

Federal agents, specialists in racial matters, have been working for weeks at the jail here classifying the documents and questioning eleven of the prisoners who were unable to raise the $10,000 bonds required. The Communist Party of America, according to its program and constitution, dozens of copies of which were seized, is an "under ground, illegal organization," officially representing the Russian Soviets in this country, and formed for the purpose of "systematically and persistently propagating the idea of the inevitability of and necessity for violent revolution."

Seek Soviet Betray?
"By the use of force," says the program, the proletariat will destroy "the machinery of the bourgeois State and establish proletarian dictatorship based on Soviet power." Under the sub-head of Mass Action, the program says:

"The revolutionary epoch upon which the world has now entered forces the proletariat to resort to militant methods—mass action, leading in direct collision with the bourgeois state. Mass action culminates in armed insurrection and civil war. Mass action is the proletarian revolt against the oppression of the capitalist class. It develops from spontaneous activities of the workers massed in large industries. Among its initial manifestations are mass strikes and mass demonstrations."

While the federal agents have declined to make public the entire list of 70 or 80 delegates who attended the secret conference in the woods, it has been reported that one of the delegates was an emissary from Moscow who had arrived in the United States only a few days before the convention.

Sixteen men were arrested in the midnight raid. Foster and two others were extradited from Chicago and two more were arrested in New York.

The defendants, with the exception of Foster, will be represented by Sybrant Wessellus of Grand Rapids. Foster has retained Clarence Darrow, well known Chicago labor attorney, to defend him.

MOONSHINE NOW A PROBLEM FOR HEALTH WORKER

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 17.—The widespread drinking of "moonshine" has become an important public health problem, J. H. Doran, head of the industrial alcohol and chemical division of the Federal Prohibition Commissioner's office, told the Pure Food and Drug section of the American Public Health Association in session here today.

Many thousands of analyses of illicit liquors subsequent to prohibition show that the essential difference between "moonshine" and aged in wood whiskey is in the aldehyde content, he said.

"The effect of the aldehydes on the human system when taken internally appear to be very harmful," Mr. Doran declared. "These are eliminated only by fracturing in alcohol drum or long aged wooden barrels. Many illicit liquors are found to be contaminated with salts of zinc and copper."

"A most serious problem is caused by the drinking of locally or home prepared 'moonshine,' distilled denatured alcohol, tincture of ginger and periodic food alcohol drinking epidemics."

"Casual surveys of the press must impress anyone with the vastness of the problem. There are no being dealt in an have purposes. While only a minority of the people may thus indulge itself, its use is sufficiently widespread to become a matter that vitally concerns the public health."

The song "Moonshine" was written by an artillery officer in the garrison at Strasburg in 1792.

THREAT OF EXILE FACING RUSSIANS

Free Thinkers Unable to Reconcile Themselves to Soviet Ideas.

MOSCOW—The Soviet government's recent action in exiling abroad or to Northern Russia many educators, publicists and professional men who were unable to reconcile themselves to the soviet regime, came like a bolt out of the blue and has left thousands of others of the "intelligentsia" wondering if their turn will come next.

For many months, since the development of free trade and the recreation of a class of rich speculators, it has been evident both to opponents of the government and to the communists themselves, that thousands of Russians were beginning to forget they were in the hands of a proletarian dictatorship, and were beginning to become as "bourgeoisie" as ever.

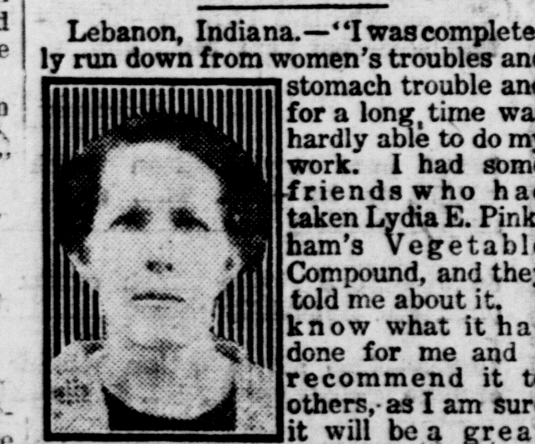

Thinking that the new freedom of trade might mean freedom of politics also, scores of college professors and some organizations of professional men began to talk, write and think freely again. The more timid did this secretly, while some plucked up enough courage to lampoon the government's activities openly in pamphlets and in the class room. One group of college professors even dared to strike—and strikes usually bring prompt punishment in Russia.

Premier Lenine openly announced last spring, that the retreat toward capitalism had reached its limits, and both the Genoa and Hague conferences established that the Soviet government was standing pat on the main principles of the proletarian dictatorship, even if it was inclined to make individual concessions to capitalists or foreign governments here and there.

Leway is Allowed.
Within Russia, however, such leeway continued to be allowed to speculators. Gambling casinos were opened, racing flourished, and so many new commercial undertakings

LEGION POST TO ESTABLISH PARK FOR THE ORDER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 17.—Plans are being laid by the members of Jefferson Post, American Legion, for the conversion of Douglas Park, once a widely known race track here, into what will be it is claimed, the first American Legion park in the United States. Tentative plans provide for the transformation of the track into a country club for the legionnaires.

Formal transfer of the grounds and buildings at the racing plant to a Louisville legion post by the Kentucky Jockey Club already has been made. The legion will enjoy the use of the property rent free, the restriction being that the track proper shall be preserved for the use of the legion for training purposes. The hundred and twenty-three acres and the buildings, with the exceptions of the stables, have been vested in trust to the legion, which is authorized to make any improvements desired.

Douglas Park first was used as a race track 35 years ago by trotting enthusiasts for informal meetings. It was converted into a running track a quarter of a century ago.

Over it was run, prior to its purchase four years ago by the Kentucky Jockey Club, the Kentucky Handicap, valued at $15,000 and second in importance, up until the sale of the track to the Kentucky Derby. With its purchase by the Jockey Club, racing was suspended at Douglas Park and the track has been used since then by club members for training purposes.

Improvements already planned by the legionnaires include restocking of the fish pond in the center field, conversion of the concrete floor of the former betting shed into tennis and handball courts, construction of a baseball diamond and a nine hole golf course and possibly the addition of a trap shooting range. The dining room will be remodelled into a dancing pavilion and other sections of the building into locker rooms.

McGaugh was convicted in the district court of Marshall county Sept. 24, 1915.

ARMY BALLOON IS BURNED IN TEXAS

Dirigible C-2 Bursts Into Flames at San Antonio After Long Flight.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 17.—The army dirigible C-2, which recently completed a transcontinental flight and which had reached San Antonio on its way back to Washington, was burned early this morning while being taken from the hangar at Brooks Field for a test flight over the city.

Several members of the crew were hurt, some seriously.

The dirigible caught on the frame work of the hangar as it was being taken out. The bag split and the gas ignited. In the car of the dirigible at the time were the members of the crew and some passengers. They escaped death but first reports said several were burned seriously and one had a broken arm. The dirigible was completely destroyed by the flames.

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digesting torture and its soul-tearing, unreachable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting-giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1823! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and in well now. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it cures rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

BEST CULTURAL METHODS

AID WEEVIL ERADICATION
By Glenn Briggs, Agronomy Department, and G. C. Gibbons, Extension Agronomist, Oklahoma A. and M. College, Stillwater.

If proper measures are taken at once by the cotton growers of the state a long step will be made toward the extermination and control of the boll weevil for next season. Fortunately the control measures agree with the best cultural methods recommended by the Agronomy Department of the Oklahoma A. and M. College in preparing ground for next season's cotton crop.

If the future fertility of the soil is to be taken into consideration, the farmer will not burn his stalks but will drag them down and plow them under at a good depth, thus preventing any second growth cotton which will furnish food for the weevil until killing freezes.

There may be a condition which will warrant burning of the stalks instead of plowing them under but the farmer who follows this method should determine whether his ground needs this vegetation returned and must prevent a second growth before freezing time, else his control measures will be of no avail.

Entomologists have demonstrated that the cotton boll weevil cannot live without food while it is active, but if it hibernates it can go long periods without food, provided it goes into winter quarters in good condition. However, if the weevil is in a starved condition when cold weather forces it into winter quarters there is little probability of its living to see another cotton crop. Knowing these conditions to be actual facts it would seem that farmers, commercial clubs and other organizations should be even more active in the fight against the boll weevil at the present time than they were in the summer when they spent so much time and effort in trying to eradicate the pest when it was present in large numbers.

Community organization is necessary to make either plan a complete success. On account of early maturity because of drought and weevil damage, a better opportunity for a successful campaign against boll weevil will probably never again present itself. Every farm organization and community should organize to completely destroy every green cotton plant at the earliest moment.

Uncle Ezra says: Ever' farmer writes his character across his fields.

"MR. BOB"

By GEORGIA F. HARRIS

(By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Little Bobbie's eyes were popping with excitement as he burst into the living room, where his mother sat reading the evening paper.

"See, mother," he cried, breathlessly, as he pulled a large, brown envelope from his blouse, "I met a man down the road, and he told me to give you this for your business."

As Mrs. Merwin tore open the envelope, she gave a quick start of surprise. A large roll of bills lay before her!

"Why, Bobbie, boy!" she exclaimed, her pretty face showing her bewilderment. "Tell mother everything that happened!"

Bobbie had now regained his breath. "I was pickin' daisies over in Jenkins' field, and when I was comin' home, I met Mr. Bob."

Mrs. Merwin was silent for a few moments. "Did he ask you about your father?" she finally asked.

"Yep, and I told him my dad ain't been 'round here for ever so long—"

"What did he say when he gave you the money?" interrupted Mrs. Merwin, as she nervously fingered the large roll of bills.

"He just told me to give it to you for your business, then—" Bobbie hesitated, as if preparing for a confession—"he kissed me—just like I was a girl—and told me to bring the envelope right home to you."

Letty Merwin took the money from the drawer. She stared at the large roll of bills, as if searching for an answer to the burning questions in her brain.

Why had Bob Merwin, for surely it was he, sent her this money? Memories of her father's anger when he had driven Robert from the house, of her remorse because she had told her father of the quarrel with Robert, and of Robert's wrath as he swore never to look again at the wife who was ruled by an unreasonable father, loomed up with startling clearness, as she meditated.

Suddenly, with an apprehensive shiver, she snatched up the evening paper and searched for a little item which, earlier in the evening, had received but a glance. Yes, there it was—"Whitton general store robbed of $1,000. Robert Smith, a clerk in the store, very cleverly made away with $1,000—"

A strange, stern look crept into Letty Merwin's eyes. When last she had heard of Robert he had been working in Whitton. Before she could put the money into the drawer the door opened and a man stepped into the room.

"Robert Merwin!" burst from Letty's trembling lips.

"I couldn't go away, Letty," murmured the man brokenly. "I tried to, but, somehow, I couldn't. I don't expect your forgiveness," he went on, as she didn't speak, "and I know I shouldn't come; but I met little Bobbie and—" He stopped, for his wife had hastily picked up the money and was silently offering it to him.

"I was afraid you'd feel that way—yet I hoped—"

"You thought I'd take this money?" said Letty.

"I hoped, that is, until—" he paused, for Letty was holding before him the newspaper and was pointing to the robbery item with an accusing finger. "Does that mean anything to you?" she asked quietly—too quietly.

The man read the item without betraying the slightest emotion. "I guess I deserve that—perhaps more," he replied in a low voice. He took a bank book out of his pocket and opened it to a page which showed that $1,000 had been withdrawn a few days before. The book also showed regular weekly deposits for over two years. He then took a bunch of pay envelopes from another pocket.

"I guess these will tell the story," he said slowly, "because the envelopes check up with the bank book deposits."

An ashamed blush reddened Letty's cheeks as she read "Ridgerton National Bank" on the book and noticed a single dollar in the balance column. "Why didn't you come to me yourself?" she faltered, after an awkward pause.

"I had been looking forward to it for weeks, just waiting for my money to reach the thousand mark. I was nearly home when I met Bobbie and learned from him how things are. Funny—the prattling of a little youngster can really mean a great deal sometimes."

"What did Bobby tell you?" Letty's voice had a suspicious tremor in it. "He just repeated the gossip that is probably around the village. Evidently he heard some of them say that his dad, who had been away for a long time, would be 'sneaking back,' now that his mother was successful in business." The man turned toward the door.

"The old gossips," cried Letty indignantly. "I didn't know—Bobbie didn't tell me all. They don't know or understand—"

"Understand what?" The man caught his breath sharply.

"Understand that I've always been waiting for you to come back to Bobbie—and me," answered Letty softly. "Can you forgive me?" She pointed to the newspaper item.

"Forgive!" he repeated, a happy light breaking over his tired face. "Together they stole into the room beyond, where Bobbie, with one chubby hand tucked under his chin, lay dreaming."

It is estimated that 146,000,000 fragments from comets bombard the earth annually.

Resolutions of Sympathy
Whereas, It has pleased the almighty to remove from our midst, by death, our esteemed friend and sovereign, Viola Cassidy who has for many years occupied a prominent place in our midst, maintaining under all circumstances a character untarnished and a reputation above reproach.

Therefore, be it resolved, that in the death of Viola Cassidy The Angelo Grove No. 42, Woodman Circle, sustained the loss of a sovereign whose fellowship it was an honor and a pleasure to enjoy; that we bear willing testimony to her many virtues, to her unquestioned probity and stainless life; that we offer to her bereaved family and mourning friends, over whom sorrow has hung her sable mantle, our heart felt condolence, and pray that infinite goodness may bring speedy relief to their burdened hearts and inspire them with consolation that hope in futurity and faith in God given even in the shadow of the tomb.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions, properly endorsed, be presented to the family of our deceased friend, one furnished the Ada Evening News, to the monthly tidings and one copy put on the wooden circle minutes.
